

UPLIFTING AND HUMOROUS TRAVEL ESSAYS

If you've ever been a weary traveler, whether for business or pleasure, you'll appreciate these personal reflections written by a kindred spirit, a multi-million mile flier. In a time of ever escalating aggravations and frustrations for travelers, TLC for ROAD WARRIORS offers a refreshingly joyous uplift.

"I read the first 100 pages of TLC on my trip back East ...I love it...A couple of times I actually laughed out loud on the airplane... I am looking forward to the airplane ride home tomorrow so I can finish reading the book... I want to order more to sell at our gift shop."

Marriott hotel General Manager

"TLC is a wonderful compilation of "life Lessons" gleaned over many years that are invaluable as they are enjoyable."

Corporate Human Resources Executive

"Reading TLC I often found myself laughing out loud – other times reduced to tears."

University Professor of Accounting

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dr. Zach Clements, a former university professor, has been an inspirational speaker for more than 40 years. As such, he has travelled to each of the 50 states, all provinces of Canada, as well as to European, South American and Asian countries. When he's not "on the road" he can be found semi-relaxing at his home in South Burlington, Vermont. When he's not outside jogging in his shorts - year-round - he presides in the kitchen for family and friends.
